

Want to write about
SCIENCE, ENGINEERING,
HEALTH, or the ENVIRONMENT
so non-scientists can understand and appreciate science?

The University of Tennessee
School of Journalism & Electronic Media offers 3 courses to help you

Journalism/Electronic Media 450
WRITING ABOUT SCIENCE AND MEDICINE
Usually offered every spring semester

Journalism/Electronic Media 451
ENVIRONMENTAL WRITING
Usually offered every fall semester

Journalism/Electronic Media 456
SCIENCE WRITING AS LITERATURE
Usually offered every fall semester

- All 3 can be taken without prerequisites by any student – including those in science, engineering, and health
- All 3 offer undergraduate or graduate credit
- All 3 fulfill the General Education intensive-writing-course requirement

For course descriptions, please check <http://cci.utk.edu/jem/sciencecommunication>

For additional information, please contact
Dr. Mark Littmann
Professor, Hill Chair of Excellence in Science Writing
974-8156
<littmann@utk.edu>