

PLAGIARISM

FRED O'HARA, OUR MAIN SPEAKER, WILL PRESENT AT 7:00

Communicating about science since he was a child, Fred O'Hara has authored five books, edited a dozen books for others, written proposals, and documented meetings of federal advisory committees. His career has included editing the undergraduate science journal at Boston College, working in the sewers of Boston, and being elected a fellow of STC (which was much better than pumping sewage). His resume lists more than 250 publications since 1980 (but who's counting?). As a consultant, he usually gets called in at the "Holy Smokes!" (or holy something else) stage of a project and has often encountered strange problems. He will discuss one such travail at the meeting.
