

Pursuit

The Journal of Undergraduate Research at the University of Tennessee

Pursuit is dedicated to publishing the scholarly work of undergraduates and is supported by the University of Tennessee Office of Research and Engagement and the Chancellor's Honors Program. The editors and review board are undergraduate students who review submissions and work with select faculty and staff to publish Pursuit.

Pursuit is currently accepting submissions for the Spring 2015 edition (Volume 6, Issue 1). Submissions must have been written during the author's undergraduate studies, though authors may submit work to Pursuit up to one year after graduating.

The priority deadline for submissions is October 23, 2014. The final deadline for submissions is January 6, 2015.

Humanities and Social Science papers may be up to 30 pages maximum; Science and Engineering papers may be up to 15 pages maximum. Endnotes must be used instead of footnotes. Please include a short biography of yourself.

Submit your research papers or theses as a .doc or .docx file to the Pursuit website at Trace: <http://trace.tennessee.edu/pursuit>

Please email the editor in chief, Julia Ross, with any questions.