

2014 GIS Awareness

You are invited to Display Work in our Map Gallery!

The Tennessee Geographic Alliance and the Oak Ridge GIS Working Group are pleased to bring GIS Awareness to the community. A map gallery is an ideal way to display your work! It is valuable to you because you can add more experience to your resume, network with other GIS users, and work towards your GISP. There is no cost, and we would love any kind of map. What better way to show off your GIS maps?

Who should submit a map? Anyone! We would love to have submissions from a variety of GIS users, which includes you! It is ok if you are a beginner or an advanced user. We just love to see GIS in our community. We will not judge your map, so don't be shy to submit your hard work!

Why should you submit a map? This is a great opportunity for people to display their work! Presenters can also note this GIS experience on their resume, and it can be an ideal event to connect with other GIS users. You can also use this event towards your GISP requirements! Overall, this chance to display your map is highly beneficial to you in every way.

What content should be displayed on your map? Did you finish a project for school or for your supervisor? What about a personal project that involved GIS? The GIS Map Gallery is for the community to become more aware about GIS, so we encourage content of all types!

When will your map be displayed? The maps will be rotated throughout the month of November.

Where will your map be displayed? All of the maps will be presented for the community to see at the Oak Ridge Library.
