

David L Nieland

Subject: Biomimicry Fellowships Available Fall 2016

The Biomimicry Research and Innovation Center (BRIC) at The University of Akron, Akron Ohio, USA is seeking qualified candidates looking for unique PhD training in Biomimicry. Two five-year fellowships (NASA and The Cleveland Water Alliance) providing a stipend and covering graduate tuition are available. BRIC currently hosts 15 Biomimicry Fellows and we are adding new Biomimicry Faculty as well.

Fellowships start September 2016 and will be filled ASAP. Admissions and review are rolling. Please follow one of the links below for more information:

<http://www.uakron.edu/ib/academics/biomimicry-fellowship-faq.dot>

Peter H. Niewiarowski (phn@uakron.edu)

Current Biomimicry Fellows Blog: <http://germinature.com>