Visit TEMG demonstration garden sites in Wilson, Davidson, and Rutherford Counties

Wilson County- Visit Fiddler’s Grove historical site nestled in the James Ward Ag Center where WCMGs manage the gardens and have established an arboretum. Then travel to the Cedars of Lebanon State Park where a butterfly garden showcases plant/insect connections.

Davidson County- Ellington Ag Center is the home of the ever-expanding MGDC demonstration garden that hosts visitors of all ages and interests. Additionally the Cultivate community garden is located in another area of Ellington where you will see urban food production techniques in action.

Rutherford County- Lane Agri-Park, home to the Rutherford County Extension office provides RCMGers with a great site for demonstration gardens. Their current demo garden illustrates food production, water and soil conservation practices, pollinator attraction as well as permaculture techniques. Additionally, you can visit the two RCMG-constructed rain gardens on site.
