

From: Robinson, George
Subject: FW: JOB POSTING Director of Conservation & Education, E.N. Huyck Preserve

Position Opening

Please reply directly to posting organization:

The Edmund Niles Huyck Preserve, Rensselaerville, NY, seeks a full-time Director of Conservation and Education. The individual will ensure that the Preserve's current programs continue to grow. Major responsibilities: Coordinate research activities of the field station; develop, teach, and evaluate education programs for students K-12; implement action steps in land stewardship plan; manage program budget; seek grants and other sources of funding for programs. Requirements: Masters or higher degree in the natural sciences; teaching and curriculum development experience; experience with northeast flora and fauna; regularly work in outdoor settings and all weather conditions. To apply: Submit cover letter and resume by August 15, 2017 to jill@huyckpreserve.com. For full position responsibilities visit our website: www.huyckpreserve.org.

George Robinson
Associate Professor
Interim Director, Biodiversity, Conservation and Policy Program
Biology 253 B, Department of Biological Sciences
University at Albany, SUNY
1400 Washington Ave., Albany, NY 12222
518-442-4302
FAX: 518-442-4767
grobins@albany.edu
<http://www.albany.edu/biology/faculty/grobinson/index.shtml>
https://www.researchgate.net/profile/George_Robinson2/