

From: David Shiffman
Subject: OceansOnline is now accepting abstracts! Join this marine science and conservation communication event!

OceansOnline is now accepting abstracts, as is the rest of IMCC: the International Marine Conservation Congress! This year, this interdisciplinary marine conservation meeting will be held in Kuching, Malaysia!

I'll be running OceansOnline, an optional add-on day focusing on using online tools for marine science and conservation education, collaboration, and research! It's suitable for beginners or advanced users, and open to anyone including scientists, conservation advocates, educators, journalists, and communicators!

Want to lead a discussion about these topics at OceansOnline? Submit an abstract following the information in this link. Want to present your marine conservation research at IMCC5? This link has info for you, too!

Please let me know if anyone has any questions. And please help us spread the word by telling interested colleagues and labmates!

More info, including links, here:

<http://www.southernfriedscience.com/oceansonline-is-now-accepting-abstracts-lead-a-discussion-teach-a-skill-and-join-us/>

Sincerely,

--

David Shiffman, Ph.D.

Marine Conservation Biologist and Science Writer
Liber Ero Postdoctoral Research Fellow, Simon Fraser University, Vancouver, B.C.

e: david.shiffman@gmail.com | t: @WhySharksMatter |
b: Southern Fried Science Blog | cv: Online CV