Subject: Temporary position: fisheries conflict researcher

The Secure Fisheries program of One Earth Future is hiring a part time research assistant to assist with a project on fisheries conflict in Africa. The logistics are flexible, but the ideal candidate would be available for a full-time three-month appointment between May/June - July/August. Research will involve building a database about conflicts in Africa and subsequent analysis.

We are looking for current MS or PhD students, or someone with a BS/BA with strong research skills.
