

ENVIRONMENTAL JUSTICE

SOCI 361 Fall 2021 (3 Credits)
Tue./Thur. 01:10-02:25 PM

Are you passionate about creating a just and sustainable future for all of Earth's inhabitants?

This is a new course designed by the Environmental Sociology faculty in the Department of Sociology. This course provides an environmental justice framework for understanding how racialized discrimination, gender, sexual orientation, income, and national origin are intrinsically connected to environmental degradation, climate change, and the failed efforts to create a just and sustainable future for all of earth's inhabitants.

Contact Dr. Alex Moulton (amoulto3@utk.edu) for more details.