You should take GEOG 331 if you want to:

- Learn about the science of our world's hazards: when, why, where, and how they occur.
- Understand how we as humans prepare for these hazards to protect life and property.
- Critically think about the human impact of hazards.
- Enhance skills in scientific literacy and apply them to real-world events.

No prerequisites, but GEOG 131 or 132 or similar coursework is recommended.

Counts toward: Geography major, Geography minor, Climate Change minor, Global Challenges perspectives requirement, and Connection Packages: Environment and Society, Humans Living on a Dynamic Earth, and Understanding Climate Change
