

HUMANITIES TENNESSEE PRESENTS

TENNESSEE YOUNG WRITERS' WORKSHOP 2022

JUNE 5TH-11TH | EAST TENNESSEE STATE UNIVERSITY | JOHNSON CITY, TN

W H O

High School students (incoming Fall 2022 Freshmen through outgoing Spring 2022 Seniors ages 14-18 as of June 2022) who have a sincere interest in creative writing and would like to hone their craft with peers and professionals for a week this summer.

Is that you?! I think it might be you ... Yes!

With incredible support from the National Endowment for the Humanities, the Tennessee Arts Commission and individual donors, this year's workshop fee is reduced to $300* per student. This includes room and board, all class materials, t-shirt, class instruction and transportation from/to Nashville.

*If that figure is not compatible with your current financial situation, tuition support (full or partial) is available. Please tick the box in the application noting your interest in tuition support and we'll be in touch with further details.

To apply to the 2022 workshop, please fill out an application at youngwritersworkshop.org. All applications should include a recent writing sample (no more than 2,500 words). This may be a poem, short story, creative nonfiction essay, play, piece of some epic tale, etc. This piece does not have to be something from school.
