

Spring 2023

---

STC-ETC Newsletter

It's a new year!
STC-ETC welcomes
your participation
in these upcoming activities for students and professionals.

Activities

---

Style Workshop

Lighthouse Knoxville
Saturday, February 18, 2023
9:00 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Blakely Awards

Deadline: Friday, March 17, 2023

Style Workshop

Saturday, February 18, 2023
9:00 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Join STC-ETC on Saturday, February 18, 2023, at the Lighthouse in Knoxville, Tennessee, for a day of professional development. The day-long workshop will include presentations and panels on topics of interest to technical and science communicators. These topics include

- procedure writing and editing presented by Elizabeth Kirby, a Technical Writer/Editor from Oak Ridge National Laboratory;
- technical and science communication as an alternative to academia, aimed especially at students and faculty currently in academia who are curious about options outside of academia (alt-ac careers); and
- the writing process when communicating complex technical and scientific content to the public.

To guarantee your spot, please register by Friday, February 3, 2023. Registration is $10 for students and $20 for professionals. Registration includes continental breakfast and a lunch buffet.

Register using this link:

<https://lnkd.in/evB7M3Wy>

Blakely Awards

Deadline: Friday, March 17, 2023

STC-ETC holds the Blakely Awards annually to recognize student excellence in technical and scientific communication. The Blakely Awards are an opportunity for students and recent graduates to feature their communication and writing skills, as well as strengthen their resumes with a prestigious award. Winners receive chapter recognition, a certificate, and a cash prize.

Want to enter the contest? Please read the application instructions: <https://stc-etc.org/blakely-awards>

Not competing but want to volunteer a few hours of your time as a judge? Please email us: stcetcblakely@gmail.com

---

Join or renew today, and designate East TN as your STC chapter: stc.org/membership

